Our mandate in Türkiye

UNDP advances inclusive and green growth, climate action, good governance, social inclusion, and risk-informed and resilient development in Türkiye. As a trusted and results-oriented partner of the Government, UNDP supports Türkiye in delivering sustainable development solutions that improve livelihoods, strengthen resilience, and accelerate the green transition. By combining policy expertise, innovative financing, and field-based implementation, UNDP helps scale practical solutions for climate action, circular economy, disaster resilience, and inclusive growth, in line with Türkiye's national priorities and global commitments.

Our impact

UNDP supports Türkiye's green transition and climate resilience through tangible and inclusive solutions. For example, a total of 1,875 people, including 833 women, gained certified renewable energy skills, strengthening employability and the green workforce. UNDP also advances local climate action, circular economy practices, and ecosystem restoration to help communities and institutions build a more sustainable and resilient future.

UNDP supports Türkiye's green transition, climate action, resilience, and inclusive development through integrated and scalable solutions. With support of the EU and in partnership with national institutions, UNDP strengthens local climate action and science-based forecasting in line with national and global commitments. In earthquake-affected regions, UNDP supports livelihoods and SMEs, expansion of inclusive services, and promotes ecosystem restoration in partnership with local institutions. UNDP delivers nature-based solutions, circular economy initiatives and sustainable cooling practices. With EU funding and in partnership with national institutions, UNDP improves access to formal employment and services for people under international and temporary protection and host communities. With support from the Republic of Korea, UNDP also develops a renewable energy training ecosystem linking certification, infrastructure, and policy support to strengthen long-term labour market integration.
